

Dear Public Prep Families,

While we regret that we can't be together these days, here are some friendly reminders about how to maintain strong routines at home.

- Make a predictable schedule to follow each day
- Maintain your child's bedtime – for example, ensure your child gets 10 hours of sleep
- Monitor screen time - for example, don't allow your child to watch 6+ hours of television
- Maintain your child's schedule – for example, not letting your child sleep in and instead waking up and having breakfast
- Ensure your child washes his/her hands frequently
- Work on the academic packet sent home every day on top of reading every day
- Utilize the online programs to practice academic skills
- Playing board games and card games are a good way to reinforce counting skills while enjoying time with family

If you have any questions, please contact your teacher directly.

Sincerely,

The Public Prep Academic Team

The New Car

The Millers got a new car. The new car looked sharp. The new car smelled fresh. The new car was not worn or torn in any way.

Everyone in the Miller family liked the new car. It started up with a purr. The old car started up with a lurch and a jerk.

Dad said, "I like the parts on the new car. I can stop short, and I can also make sharp turns. The parts are not worn in any way."

Mom said, "I like the horn on the new car. The horn does not blare like the old horn, The horn chirps like a bird."

Burt said, "I like how sporty the new car is. It rides with force and it darts like a shark. It is faster than the old car."

Marty said, "I like the charm of the new car. It shines with a glare and starts with flare."

Squirt the dog also liked the new car. "Arf!" he barked.

The Millers went for a ride in the new car. Burt and Marty asked if they could stop for ice cream from Ike's.

"Let's go!" urged Burt when all the ice cream had been served. "I want to get home in time for The Shark Show."

"We must eat our ice cream first," Dad said. "There will be no eating ice cream in our new car."

The New Car 2

Burt ate his ice cream first and paced in the muddy turf next to the store.

"Hurry!" he urged, as Marty slurped her ice cream. Marty slurped a little faster. When the Millers were done with their ice cream, Burt turned toward the car.

"Stop!" yelled Dad.

"Why?" asked Burt. Dad looked at Burt's shoes.

Dad said, "Is that dirt on your shoes? I don't want dirty shoes in our new car." Burt, Marty, Mom, and Dad all checked their shoes for dirt. Marty checked Squirt, too. Squirt barked. Once all the shoes were checked for dirt, the Millers piled back into the car. Dad turned out of the parking lot.

"Watch out, Dad!" yelled Burt. "You are too close to the curb!"

Dad moved over to the third lane and drove faster.

"Stop, Dad!" said Marty. "The light up there is red."

"Thanks, kids," smiled Dad. "I'm glad you care as much as I do about our new car."

Dad pulled into the drive. Mom grabbed her purse and gasped. "Carl! The trash can!" she said. Just then, there was a thud and a clatter.

Dad swerved, but it was too late. He scraped the fender against the trash can. There was a small scratch on the fender. Dad muttered some words. Then he looked at his family and smiled.

"The new car can't stay sharp and fresh forever," said Dad. "Let's not worry about every bit of dirt, scratch, or dent."

"This new car was getting on my nerves," said Burt.

"Arf!" barked Squirt. The Millers all laughed.
